

Currenex[®]

Currenex is our multi award winning trading system for professional FX traders, bringing together high performance technology and deep pools of liquidity.

Product Overview

Currenex offers aggregate pricing from more than 60 streaming banks and non-banks with liquidity from FXTrades, our anonymous, all-to-all electronic communication network (ECN). FXTrades has more than 300 global participants, making it one of the largest anonymous FX trading pools in the world.

Currenex supports real-time FX spot trading in more than 65 currency pairs. Clients can execute to suit their personal preferences through Executable Streaming Prices (ESP), Request for Stream/Request for Quote (RFS/RFQ) or by mid-matching through Currenex MID. Our SEF/MTF participants can also route NDF orders for electronic execution.

Clients benefit from a full-time, international client support network with dedicated personnel providing 24-hour service. Our experienced team of experts in London, New York, Singapore and Tokyo are ready to assist with any query through one local contact number or a dedicated email address. Local language support is also available to clients in these regions.

Comprehensive Liquidity and Execution Capabilities

Our success as a leading eTrading venue drives our ability to provide access to liquidity from relationship banks and non-banks, as well as from FXTrades™, our anonymous ECN. The FXTrades™ liquidity pool is one of the market's largest anonymous trading pools and is made up of hundreds of professional market participants.

Our patented technology provides multiple connectivity routes and the ability to aggregate anonymous and disclosed liquidity into a single or multiple order books. Whether clients choose to execute via Executable Streaming Prices (ESP), Request for Stream/Request for Quote (RFS/RFQ) or mid-matching (Currenex MID™) we provide a comprehensive suite of execution capabilities to meet their trading objectives.

Innovative Technology

Our high-performance technology delivers a robust trading experience supported by a low-latency network, and we continually invest in new technologies and initiatives to help drive the FX industry forward. Depending on our clients' resources and requirements, we offer a range of connectivity options and messaging protocols that can be tailored to suit their particular trading objectives and resources.

Excellent Customer Service

Currenex offers a 'follow-the-sun' model of client support with liquidity management, integration, technical support and sales desks available 24 hours in Asia, Europe and the US. Regardless of the type of help or support needed – connectivity, trade support or understanding the platform – one local contact number or email connects clients to a team of experts. Our teams in London, New York, Singapore and Tokyo provide 24x6 coverage, and local language support is available in the specific regions.

Market Data

Currenex NOW delivers a premium market data solution. It represents an independent and unbiased view of the most widely available prices, orders and trading activity across all of the various liquidity pools on Currenex.

It provides a real-time, tick-by-tick, streaming, order book data feed offering real precision, trade updates (paid/given) with bucketed size, a Currenex Weighted Average Mid Rate (WAMR) mid-rate, coupled with insight into order book density surrounding WAMR.

Private Label Services

All our technology is available as a comprehensive Private Label service for financial intermediaries seeking to access the FX markets efficiently. Our Private Label business leverages our technology to provide brokers, banks and financial institutions with sophisticated access to the FX, money markets and precious metals markets, and the ability to operate a trading venue, without the need for hardware investment. Our technology is robust, customizable and can be easily and quickly deployed.

Currenex is a market-leading provider of high-performance technology and deep pools of liquidity to professional FX traders. Our award-winning platform allows clients to aggregate pricing from more than 60 streaming banks, non-banks and liquidity from our anonymous ECN, FXTrades™ into a single consolidated Central Limit Order Book (CLOB).
