2. Execution factors

To the extent applicable, SSBIL is required to take all sufficient steps on a consistent basis to obtain the best possible result for clients when executing orders (or receiving and transmitting orders) taking into account factors such as price of the Financial Instrument, cost of execution, speed, likelihood of execution and settlement, size, nature or any other consideration relevant to the execution of the order.

Generally, SSBIL will satisfy the requirement to obtain the best possible result for its clients by following specific instructions from the client.

3. Proper client instructions

Whenever a client has given SSBIL a proper instruction regarding an order or an aspect of an order, SSBIL will execute or transmit such order or aspect thereof following the client's proper instruction. The term "Proper Instructions" is defined in the Custody Agreement or Depositary Agreement with SSBIL and may be in the form of a standing instruction.

Proper instructions from a client may prevent SSBIL from taking the steps that it has designed and implemented to obtain the best possible result for the execution of those orders in respect of the elements covered by those instructions.

Client instructions must cover the following matters (where relevant):

- The value or price at which SSBIL should execute the order;
- Instructions on how SSBIL should determine the value of the Financial Instrument to which the order relates;
- The particular Financial Instrument to be purchased, subscribed for, sold, or redeemed; and
- The time period(s) within which SSBIL must execute the order.

These matters may not be relevant where, for example, orders in the selected Financial Instrument must be placed at a fixed time or at a fixed price or value.

In executing an order in accordance with a proper client instruction, SSBIL will have satisfied the obligation to deliver best execution under this Policy with regards to such order or aspect thereof.

SSBIL will then apply this Policy and take all necessary steps to obtain the best possible results for the elements of the order not subject to or limited by the proper client's instructions.

If in the opinion of SSBIL, the proper client instruction may have become unduly restrictive relating to the likelihood of execution of the client's order, such as where conditions have changed, SSBIL shall discuss this with the client and agree an appropriate course of action.

To the extent that instructions do not cover a specific aspect of an order, SSBIL may execute the client order taking the following factors into consideration:

- the Execution Criteria;
- the Execution Venues; and
- the Execution Factors

as detailed below.

a. Execution criteria

The characteristics of the units, shares or interests that are the subject of the instructions - in particular the fact that the relevant units, shares or interests are (i) not traded on a regulated market and (ii) not subject to price fluctuations on an intra-day basis.

b. Execution venues

In all instances, units, shares or interests are purchased or redeemed directly from the investment manager of the relevant fund or their transfer agent, or via a platform. There is no secondary market in these instruments or other means of purchasing, selling or redeeming them.

c. Execution factors

The following Execution Factors are also relevant in respect of orders:

- Price – there will be no choice in the price available for the units, shares, rates or interests. The purchases and redemptions will be made on the published price for the units, shares, rates or interests on that day.
- Costs – the costs applied will be the standard costs applied by the manager of the units, shares or interests, or those negotiated by the client of SSBIL, if different. SSBIL will not negotiate costs associated with trades in any circumstances.
- Speed – as noted above the time of purchases, sales and redemptions will be specified in the standing instructions. Trading windows are dictated at units, shares, rates or interests level. As there is no intraday/intra trading period variation in price, speed will be of less relevance than would be the case for instruments traded on a regulated market.
- Size – as noted above, the process for determining the value of unit, share, rates or interest to be purchased or redeemed will be determined using the specific instructions. There will be no element of discretion on the part of SSBIL in the size of the orders that are placed.
